THE OUTLAW KID

WHEN THE OWLHOOTS RODE!

GUNS ROARED AND HOT LEAD FLEW, BUT THE OUTLAW KID MET THE ONSLAUGHT HEAD-ON! SLOWLY, STEADILY, HE FORCED THE FIGHT, UNMINDFUL OF THE DANGER, THE OVERWHELMING ODDS AND THE GUNMEN'S RAGE!

BUT A MOMENT LATER...

WE WINGED 'EM!
LET'S RIDE!

5 SHORTLY AFTERWARD...

DURING THE WEEKS THAT FOLLOWED, THE KID'S PREDICTION CAME TO PASS...

AND AT THE TEMPLE RANCH AS ELSEWHERE, BURROWS AND HIS OUTLAWS MADE GRIM CONVERSATION...

AND WHEN THE SHERIFF EXPLAINED HIS CALL...

IN A SECRET ARROYO THE CHANGE WAS MADE! ONCE AGAIN LANCE TEMPLE BECAME THE OUTLAW KID...

AND AT THIS SAME MOMENT...

SWIFTLY, THE OWLHOOTS STRUCK...

A MAN OF THE WEST

IT was a hot, clear day. As the train pulled out of Garrison Bend, the man looked out the window of the club car and noted with approval the growing signs of the real West. Low hills stretched far, far away to the south. To the north was rolling plain, with here and there a distant butte standing grand and lonely against the sky. A herd of wild horses streamed across a cloud-streaked horizon, beyond the last of the buttes. They were like tiny dots, strung like beads on a chain.

He turned to the woman and said, "I told you it would be beautiful."

His wife nodded in appreciation. They were both middle-aged, but well built, with ruddy cheeks and wide-spaced, calm eyes.

"It must have been a good place to be born," she said.

"It was. I lived thirty years in the West. And I always promised myself I'd come back."

"It'll be a kind of vacation," the woman said.

"Well, maybe," he said, laughing.

"Will any of your friends be left?"

"None dead, so far as I know," he said. "Some moved away, I reckon. I'll know some faces, probably." His gaze was lost in the distance; the train stopped at a small station and started again. Suddenly, he turned to his wife.

"Look here," he said. "How about getting off the train at the next station . . . and walking the rest of the way?"

The woman's face brightened.

"Of course! It's a wonderful idea!"

"It won't tire you?" He asked anxiously. "It's a good fifteen miles from the next station to Six Pines."

"Tire me?" She laughed. "Why, we've done more than twenty miles in a day, hiking back home!"

He sat back, contented.

"The baggage will be taken off and sent to the hotel at Six Pines." He glanced down at their sturdy boots. "Lucky we decided to walk 'Western'." He took down, from the luggage rack, his old ten-gallon hat which he'd donned when they got on the train. They were both wearing hiking clothes.

When the train paused at the small station of Penston, they got off. In front of them was only a tiny station house, and no houses at all. The road, across the tracks, was a dirt track.

They passed a ranch house about half an hour later. Behind it were corralled hundreds of cattle.

"Round-up season," he said. "Yep, this is the West!"

They walked for an hour and then another half-hour. Dusty and tired, they were beginning, by that time, to look a little bedraggled. The man had remembered an inn along the road, but it was gone now. And now both of them were tired, hungry and thirsty.

A ranch house, big and imposing in appearance, with many barns around it, came gradually into view. They walked down the road toward it eagerly. Many cattle milled in the distant corrals.

The man's eye fell on a name lettered on a rural mailbox by the road. It read: J. T. Stevens.

"Stevens . . . why I knew him many years ago," the man mused.

A rider on a horse with a superbly chased leather saddle with silver mountings had ridden down from some inspection he was making of the fence near the road, and sat watching them stolidly.

"Good day," the man began. "I wonder if we might . . ."

"Don't have any truck with strangers," the man said coldly.

"But we're . . ." the woman began.

"Try up the road at Hank Barker's," the man said, and rode off.

"Maybe you should have told him your name," the woman suggested as her husband drew her away.

He shook his head.

"No, I didn't want to," he said. An odd light came into his eye, "So that's Joe Stevens. Yes, it was him. I recognize him, though he didn't recognize me. Funny, when he and I were

Get Rid of UGLY PIMPLES this new easy way!

Amazing new medicated lotion developed by a doctor works wonders by clearing up complexion in one week or less!

DON'T let a bad complexion ruin romance, spoil your fun, cause you to be embarrassed, shy or ashamed. If you suffer from acne, the common external cause of pimples among young people, try this wonderfully effective medicated lotion that was developed by a practicing physician to clear up his own teen ager's complexion after other methods had failed. It has produced astonishing results for many thousands of others. It is GUARANTEED to help you or it won't cost you a single cent!

Doesn't Show On Your Face

Keraplex is a skin-colored lotion (NOT a greasy salve or ointment!) that is quickly absorbed by the skin and gets right down in the pores where its healing and antiseptic ingredients can go to work. After you have applied it, there is no trace left on the surface. In fact, it makes a perfect powder base for girls and a refreshing after shaving lotion for men... actually improves the tone of the skin! It is pleasant and easy to use—leaving your skin soft, clean and fragrant.

Boys and girls—If you have pimples on your shoulders or back, you can avoid embarrassment when they are exposed to view. For Keraplex keeps your shoulders, arms, back and chest wonderfully free from pimples—without soiling clothes, without messiness or greasiness!

Works in SIX Out of SEVEN Cases!

An analysis of RESULTS taken from actual case histories proves that Keraplex is successful in clearing up six of every seven cases of externally caused blackheads and pimples. It tones up the complexion generally, giving it a healthy, radiant glow.

Try This New Method Without Risking A Penny!

Keraplex is GUARANTEED to clear up your skin troubles or there will be NO COST to you whatsoever. If yours happens to be the ONE extra-stubborn case out of seven which Keraplex cannot help in one short week, it will cost you nothing to have tried it. Keraplex is sent to you with that simple, positive GUARANTEE!

SEND NO MONEY

You need send no money with the coupon below. When postman delivers your Keraplex lotion (in plain wrapper marked "Personal"), deposit with him only the modest price indicated below, plus a few cents postage. Then use your Keraplex morning and night for a full week, following the simple directions which will be enclosed.

If you do not SEE RESULTS that delight you—if you are not fully convinced that Keraplex IS clearing up your complexion—just return the empty bottle or unused portion and the purchase price will be refunded in full. Don't delay a single day. The longer you let your skin troubles go, the more difficult it will be to clear them: up and get your complexion back to a healthy, clear, unblemished condition! Clip and mail the coupon TODAY. Underwood Laboratories, Inc., Stratford, Conn.

BEFORE

Note more than a dozen blemishes on just one side of this girl's face before KERAPLEX was applied.

AFTER

Same girl had used KERAPLEX twice a day for only 3 days when above photo was taken. Note the amazing improvement.

BEFORE

This young man suffered from a severe case of acne for years and tried all the usual "remedies" without success.

AFTER

Same young man after using KERAPLEX twice a day for just one week. Notice the decided improvement—pimples completely gone!

WHAT USERS SAY:

"I was suffering from a severe case of acne... and with only 4 days' treatment with Keraplex... was completely relieved."—P. S.

"I have been completely satisfied with your lotion to help clear up the pimples on my face."

—K. W.

"I have used Keraplex and for the first time in my life my pimples are clearing up in good shape. I can't thank you enough!"—E. S.

friends, years ago with Hank Barker, he wasn't like that." He shrugged. "Reckon he couldn't stand prosperity. I wonder about Hank."

"I hope he did enough to at least have afforded to dig a well," the woman said, chuckling wryly. "I'm thirsty."

Another half mile and they topped a slight rise in the road. The ground fell away in a sharp slope, toward a small house and a few cows out to pasture. The name on the mailbox read: Barker.

"Let's hope he's a little friendlier," the woman said.

"Yep, I'm thirsty, too," the man said. "But Hank always was the friendly kind."

They walked into the small yard before the house.

A pleasant-faced woman met them at the door.

"We've walked a long way," the man said. "Could we have a little water, please? And we'd be glad to pay for some food."

A deep, booming male voice said, from behind the woman, "Pay for food? Not so long as Hank Barker lives here!"

A big man confronted them. He wore a short beard and was powerfully built, and he smiled.

"Well, that's right 'friendly,'" the other said. "Of course, we're strangers, but

"Who else would appreciate a little hospitality better?" Hank Barker asked. "Come on, we're just sitting down to a meal. You're welcome to share it."

An hour later, the travelers were on their way, having thanked Mr. and Mrs. Barker profusely.

"I'd drive you into town,"

Barker said, in parting, "but my old nag threw a shoe, and it'll take me longer to fix it than you could walk there."

They waved good-bye. Six Pines was only three miles away, now.

"So that's Hank Barker," the man said, as they walked off.

"He's a gentleman," his wife said. "One of those Western gentlemen you're always talking about."

They got into Six Pines at three in the afternoon, to find that their luggage had already Hotel. After washing up, they rested for a while. Then a call came for the man. He went downstairs to the porch.

"We were worried when your train came in with just the luggage," the other who had come to see him said.

"Oh, I wanted to walk over the old road," the traveler said.

The other smiled.

"Just like old times, eh?"

"That's right. I'm glad I did, too."

"I suppose you'll be here for a week or so, looking up types to work on for your project."

The traveler said, "No, I don't think so. We'll be here for a week or so, but I've already picked out the type."

"Have you? But that'll disappoint Joe Stevens!" the other said, surprised. "When the county meeting decided to commission you to do that painting, Joe voted for it right away. I reckon he thought that as the biggest rancher in the county, you'd paint him. After all, it's something to be painted by one of the greatest artists born in the American West!"

The artist smiled.

"When you folks commissioned me to paint a portrait of a typical Westerner for the State Art Museum, I never thought I'd meet just the man and the face I wanted right off . . ." He chuckled. "When we passed Joe Stevens' place . . ."

"But I thought you weren't going to paint Stevens!"

"I'm not. When we passed Joe's place and he didn't even have the courtesy to invite Edna and me in for a drink of water, we went on to Hank Barker's!"

"Well, Hank's spread is small, but he sure is friendly!"

"Exactly," the artist said. "You folks wanted me to paint a man of the West, a typical hard worker, hospitable, kindly and with all the character the West put into men . . . the men who made the West what it is. Hank was kindly and hospitable to me and my wife when he didn't even recognize me. And if I can immortalize the Western Man in paint, it'll be Hank Barker!"
